Demarcus has been married to his wife, Larocha White Odom, for 18 years and they have an 18-year-old daughter attending Texas Tech University.

He says, “Thank you for the opportunity to serve as one of your City Councilmembers, for the City of Hutchins, Texas. For 17 years I have called Hutchins my home. I am committed to this amazing community. You can count on my forward-thinking and visionary leadership, and the core values of faith, integrity, and fiscal accountability that guide me every day.”

“It is an esteemed honor to be part of the City of Hutchins leadership to promote viable policy and prudent stewardship for public well-being. We are strongest when drawing upon the different experiences, skill sets, and backgrounds of those that govern the most critical functions and have a pinpoint focus on building a sense of community. However, we need your support to do what we are charged to do. Your feedback, contributions and participation will be crucial to help develop and implement initiatives to enhance and maintain our city as an ideal place to live.”

Term Expires: May 2025
